

Essential Elements: Key Ingredients for Successful 4-H Programs
NAE4-HA Annual Meeting
Pre-conference October 24 - October 25 Noon-Noon

The 4-H essential elements were derived from traditional and applied research looking at characteristics of effective programs enhancing youth development. The elements are necessary in any and all program settings in order for youth to have a quality experience and for positive developmental outcomes. The pre-conference will be an opportunity to experience the new 4-H Essential Elements curriculum and will consist of the hands-on activities comprising the curriculum. The curriculum has 8 hour-long modules that highlight each element along with an overview and wrap-up module. Checklists to assist staff in evaluating their programs are also a part of the curriculum. Participants will leave the pre-conference prepared to train staff and volunteers. Each state is encouraged to send at least one representative. Printed curriculum will be given to each participant attending the pre-conference. Only web materials and printing will be available after the pre-conference.
